BIG DRAIN ON GAS SUPPLY

Extra Men Work Day and Night to Meet Extraordinary Demand.

While people all over Richmond are calling frantically for a plumber, hundress of houses being without running water and with only the most pre carious gas supply, city officials in the Gas, Water and Electric Departments have been working night and day to relieve the situation, all three departnents keeping large forces of men on all day yesterday and reporting late at night that conditions were a little at night that conditions were a little more favorable—that they were at least holding their own.

In the Water Department the situation has been most difficult, but there has been no repetition of the wholesale tie-up which occurred for a time in South Richmond on Saturday. The settling basins have a week's supply of water, even were the river to remain frozen hard, and by constant pumping a pressure of twenty feet was reached in New Reservoir last night—two feet of the maximum capacity—affording an ample supply even in the event of a large fire, which is the constant night-mare of both Fire and Water Department officials in such weather.

Ministers of Dunkards' Church Sign Petition-Bond Issue to Be Voted On.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Harrisonburg, Va., January 14 .- To ay a petition signed by the ministers of the Virginia Church of the Brethren, representing 13,000 Dunkards, was completed, and will be sent to the Virginia Legislature, asking for State wide prohibition enabling act, and a law to keep whiskey from being shipped into "dry" territory. The petition refers to the uncompromising position of the Dunkard Church on the temperance question commends the work of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League and praises the stand taken by "dry" newspapers. The petition is also signed by President Flory, of Bridgewater College, the less Bretnren institution in Virginia.

To-day the first gun in the campaign for the State Sunuay School Conven-tion to be held in Harrisonburg in April was fired by State Secretary Diggs, of Richmond, who spoke at the Harrisonburg Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, and also con ducted a big meeting in payton. Local committees are already busy and the convention will attract thousands of workers from all parts of the State.

Pumping Under Difficulties.

Pumping has been precarious and difficuit. The steam plant at the electric station has been in full operation, as the constant flow of ice from time to time makes it necessary to shut down both the water power generators at the electric plant and the direct water pumps at the New Pumpficuse. Extra men have been kept at work cutting this lee away, and all available power given to the water pumping, though the men both at the electric plant and the Pumpficuse. Extra men have been kept at work cutting this lee away, and all available power given to the water pumping, though the men both at the electric plant and the Pumpficuse have had to work under freezing conditions through long hours to keep up the supply.

In hundreds of older residences pipes have frozen and burst, Plumbers would take regular work yesterday, but the heads of several shops themselves did such emergency work as would prevent great loss and give temporary relief where possible.

The great water tank which affords fire protection for the Miller & Rhouse store froze, and finding that the esprinkler system was out of commission, a number of the floor walkers and employes of the store were kept on duty all yesterday and last night to guard against incipient are, in land.

After the cable was broken on December 29 Walter W. Massie, of the Wireless Company, proposed to establish a wireless station on the island and transmit the weather reports and other government business at a certain fixed rate. After some consideration the office was established, and the station is now being erected. This will do away with any necessity for the governmental use of the cable except in times of special stress.
